Snappy Meeting.

Unanimous approval of the largest and most eastly job of installation of sanitary sewer and water mains ever made by the city, decision for the purchase of the South Main street site for the high school and a large number of other important matters featured the meeting of the common council last night in what was said to have been the heaviest and longest session since the aldernance system outsted the commission form of government a year ago.

The meeting hummed along from start to finish and early expectations of drawn-out session went to the discard early in the evening. In but two matters was there any opposition and even then discussion terminated shortly.

A sudden illness of Mayor Charles L. Valentine prevented him from at-tending and Alderman J. J. Dulin pre-

The big program of sewer and water main extensions as published last hight by the Gazette was carried without a dissenting vote. That the council as a whole was behind the extensive improvement scheme was easily seen in that both resolutions, one for sanitary sewers and the second for the water mains, went through without either discussing or an adverse vote. Final approval for the purchase of the high school site on South Main troduced by Alderman Cronin.

The New Lock-up.

The question of a new police station and lock-up again bobbed up. There was little that was new on the matter although the building committee expressed itself as advocating the drafting of plans and specificallons for the building so that the city would be ready any time to go ahead with the work.

Washington, April 8.—The largest crop of winter wheat ever grown was forecast for this year by the department of agriculture today, basing its estimate on conditions existing April 1. The enormous yield of $37,000,000 bushels was announced, which at the government's guaranteed price of $2.26 a bushel places the crop's value at $1,891,620,000.

This year's winter wheat crop, if no unfavorable conditions develop between now and the time of harvest, will be 152,000,000 bushels larger than the previous record crop predicted in 1914 and 248,000,000 bushels larger than the previous record crop predicted in 1914 and 248,000,000 bushels larger than the condition on April 1.

YOU CAN'T FOOL THEM

Once you have shown them and got their confidence they will stick through thick and thin to what they know and believe is a good thing.

Hundreds of women in our city are going around today with joy in their hearts and a new lease on life and health where before each day was one long "nervous drag of misery".

As one woman expressed it, "It's not the work you do, it's the way you feel that makes the drudgery, you cannot get ahead when you go to bed all in, too tired to sleep and get up in the morning haif dead. Believe me I know. I certainly was a nervous wreck, every task a load, no ambition, thin, haggard and pale, an old woman before my time. Look at me now. Work is a pleasure. I am just bubbling over with good smirits, the picture of health, cheeks rosy and full of the color that only ironized blood can give, while my phosphate-fed nerves are as steady as a clock, nothing worries, me, I sleep like a top and feel like a girl of sixteen. Take it from me. I want Phosphated Iron to get all of the credit, too much cannot be said in its praise, and all my friends are boosting it."

There is no need of any man or woman going around with that tired all-in feeling or any form of nervousness. If they take a brace, and stack up to a package of Phosphated Iron. It sure will spruce you up and make you feel like a live wire once more, so get busy.

Special Notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the Genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to sell you pills or tablets.

A Canadian army officer, William Pemberton, of the famous Princess Pat Regiment, told of the extraordinary wear given him by a pair of army boots twice repaired with Neolin Soles.

"Six months of trench warfare under destructive conditions put the first pair of Neolin Soles out of business," said Lieutenant Pemberton, "but ordinary soles would have gone to pieces in much less time."

Don't throw away shoes that can be repaired. Have them re-bottomed with tough, durable Neolin Soles. Any cobbler or repairman will do the work for you. The price is no more than for soles that give less wear. Remember—Neolin Soles are created by science to be what soles should be. They are flexible and waterproof as well as durable. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Scientists through abstruse calculaions have advanced the theory that the earth is shrinking and have even estimated in inches the gradual lessening in superficial dimensions.

Regardless whother their conclusions are justified it is certain that for all practical purposes the world has grown immeasurably smaller in the last few decades and the principal agent in bringing distant places close to each other has been and is the short line seen in the columns of The Gazette, "By The Associated Press."

These words are the embodiment in print of one of the greatest organizations of today, a mutual co-operative enterprise known as The Associated enterprise known as The Associated Press, its membership more than eleven hundred strong covering the entire United States, and its correspondents and affiliated agencies spread over the habitable globe.

In bringing the news to The Gazette no means of transportation is over-tooked by The Associated Press, though the principal method em-ployed is the telegraph wire. With the exception of the telegraph companies (which have no other business) there is not an organization in the waild which has complete control the world which has complete control of as many miles of telegraph lines as are under lease to The Associated Press. Its wire mileage exceeds 50,-000, and the capacity for transmis-000, and the capacity for transmission of dispatches is augmented by the code system used, whereby one short word takes the place of almost a whole, sentence. The telephone short word takes the place of almost a whole sentence. The telephone, too, has a great and growing share in the distribution of news by The Associated Press. Continuous taking circuits in operation for stated periods have replaced the telegraph in many instances and thousands of words daily are transmitted at a sin-

COUNCIL'S GOOD WORK.

The old city council, which will retire within a few days, practically ended its regime Monday with its face straight to the front, seeing nothng but the immediate needs of Janesville as a larger city. It quickly pro-vided for a construction program for sanitary sewers and water mains which will answer the needs of future years. It paved the way for immediate purchase of the South Main street site for a new high school, took action for a new police station and prepared to erect shelter for the thou-sands of dollars worth of machinery. owned by the city and paid for by the taxpayers' money, which has been standing outdoors, exposed to the ele-

All these steps must be taken at once. The council is doing no more than its duty in permitting no delay. The most satisactory result, however, is the assurance given the public that then the new council, which is com-posed of almost the same men, will have before them a progressive rec-state upon which to work out the problems of the future. The old council did not "pass the buck" on any important matters.

With the same spirit prevailing in the city's administrative body in the next two years, Janesville's civic prob-lems will be more simple than if every move for development is ham-pered by a recalcitrant council.

They will have to step lively to keep pace with us. The men who composed the association and successfully worked for the bond issue did it in a business-like manner.— The campaign was clean and the results showed that the issue won entirely on its merits as a business proposition. It was a step along

With the perpetuation of the good roads association other progressive steps can be taken. The organizasteps can be taken. The organiza-tion which, when completed, will be representative in personnel, will not confine its efforts to good roads, but will be ready to stand by any project

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE.
The other night
Some thoughtful hurglars
Broke into the grocery store
And stole everything in sight.
They left the safe and the phone and
The account books and cheese case.
But otherwise the store was as clean
As though a Kansas cyclone
Had passed through its midst.
It was the first laugh
The people in that neighborhood
Had enjoyed since the war started,
And the world was made for Profitcers.

And the world was made to Profiteers.
The next night the neighbors
Got together on the common In front of the wrecked grocery
And held a celebration, Including a large bondre
And speches and music
By the Silver Cornet Band.
The only drawback was
That the burglars were not present.
To receive the ovation
Which was all ready for them.
An invitation had been posted which was all ready for them. An invitation had been posted Asking the burglars to return In the near future And visit the burcher shop.

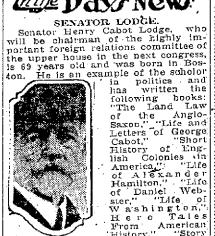

The only cheerful thing we have heard about the income tax is that it can be paid in installments.

I do not mind the partner who is shooting off the line.

I do not mind the fellow who is given to a whine:

For the epithets he uses tell to me how much he cares.
But the bird that gets my nanny and puts all my grit to wing
Is the chap who knows precisely what's the matter with my

I've a normal disposition and I'd like to keep it so,
That all sorts of men are needed to hail the cheery sort

And when I meet a growler, still I try to be a sport.
But the gink/who slips my trolley on the fairway or the tee
Is the chap who has the notion he must teach the game to me.

I have never found it helped me when I have never found it helped me when my nerve was being tried.

And my drives were short and toppy and my pitches going wide.

To have some one simper sweetly like a maiden to a pup:

"It's too bad your game's so rotten, but I'm sure you're looking up. If you'il watch me for a minute while I make a swing or two. I can show you in a hurry just exactly what to do."

Colonel L. T. Richardson, a former Janesville boy who is with the 322nd regiment of the national army United States regulars, stationed at Laigines, France, has had a special honor for service bestowed upon him. General Balley presented him with the Croix de Guerre with the balm. Eight men out of the regiment of tweive companies were presented with the Croix de Guerre. Colonel Richardson was the only one to receive this honor, accompanied with the palm. He is a brother of Miss. Sarah Richardson and V. P. and M. P. Richardson of this city.

NOW WE MAY KNOW BOSWELL

Description of Biographer, Written by Himself, Reveals Him ** Very Human.

How pleasant it is to know that Boswell, who we have always thought was merely a kind of animated notebook, was a droll, vain, bibulous, warm-hearted creature, a good deal of a Pepys, in fact, says Collier's Weekly.

A. Edward Newton's entertaining "Amenities of Book Collecting," a volume of essays which shows that a business man can write better literature than a hundred professors mulled into one, makes Boswell very human! How jolly to hear that Boswell wrote press notices about himself! Here is one of his own blurbs, which we quote from Mr. Newton's book:

"Boswell, the author, is a most excellent man; he is of an ancient family in the west of Scotland, upon which he values himself not a little. At his nativity there appeared omens of his future greatness. His parts are bright, and his education has been good. He has traveled in post chaises miles without number. He is fond of seeing much of the world. He exts of every good dish, especially apple ple. He drinks old hock. He has a very fine temper. He is somewhat of a humorist and a little tractured with pride. e has a good, manly countenance ind he owns himself to be amorous. He has infinite vivacity, yet is observed at times to have a melancholy cast. He is rather fat than lean, rather short than tall, rather young than old. His shoes are neatly made, and he never wears spectacles."

This brings the excellent Boswell very very close to us indeed; he might almost be a member of the Authors league. Especially apple pie, bless his

WORRY "CONDIMENT OF LIFE"

A Little of it Excellent, but it Must Not Be Enduring or Unless a man has a litle worry apathy, indifference and the mechanical physical disinclination to do your utmost without stint will be lacking. Without this condiment of life, this salt of the human cosmos, "we see to what absurd yet tragic physical lengths he is driven by the whip of that still vigorous tyrant, his self-instinct to fight." This thrilling force, which one time had been used square ly and successfully against the real world enemy, is now absorbed in trivial and self-debasing skirmishes with the grotesque bolsheviki of his imagination.

In other words, if a man has a variety of anxious explosive outlets via his muscles and intellect, such as driving, tennis, swimming, dancing, competition, golf and the ilke, these act as safety valves for the multitude of impulses and reactions which habit and custom have compressed out of his external activities.

Werry is one of these, if not enduring or excessive. For the average man set in society, in work and in his family circle it takes the place of larger and better outlets for his destroyed initiative.

"Imagination, my dear Mrs. Grey, pure and unadulterated imagination!" "But Barton has certainly been dull, gloomy, nervous and irritable ever since he came back from the outing trip. He has no appetite. I hear him grouning in his sleep nights. He won't mingle with the young people, as usual, and he will wander about the garden sighing and woebsgone. There must be something the matter with

Well, I have looked him over and, cannot find the slightest trace of disease," asserted Doctor March. "It may be the reaction from his long tramp; However, send him down to the office and I will give him some medicine that will brace him up."

Mrs. Grey was truly anxious for her son. Six months out of college, the youngest of three sons, his two brothers mairied and settled in life. His father was the wealthlest man in town, their home model, almost luxurious. Barton had free swing, so far as money was concerned, and his folks had asked him to spend a year at home before choosing a profession.

To the office of Doctor Marsh he wout, as directed by his mother, that afternoon. He fidgetted around restlossly while the doctor was attending to another patient. He looked bored and ambitionless as the doctor, whom he had known since childhood, sat down opposite to him.

"Now, young man," he spoke, "out with it! What is the trouble? In debt? The ghost of some college lark? I'm going to give you some medicine as a matter of form, but it isn't medi-

"Good for you!" applauded the doctor.

"T came across a girl, a young lady, on my outlog trip, whom I am going to win as my wife, or die of a broken heart."

"Rubbish, Barton! But let us have the details."

"There are none. I saw her twice, at a distance. I have never spoken to her, but, sure as love at first sight is a reality, she is the only girl I shall ever love."

"Who is she?"

"The niece of a farmer named Dickson, a hundred milos away from here. She is spending the summer on the farm, working like ail of them. And the latter lost no time in carrying out his plans. He left home wearing a common, plain suit of ciothes. Two days later he was installed at the Hardy farm just adjoining that of John Dickson, as a common laborer, earning per mouth about as much as he had spent recklessly per day in past extravagance.

packed by machinery in a manner which is far more cleanly and economical than the old "hand methods." The latter have always been questionable.

The group of old time songs by the quartet in colonial costume under the spotlight made a particular appeal in this simplicity and quainteness. The members of the quartett were the Misses Beatrice Schuette, Faye Dyer, Ruby White, and Dorothy Richard-Ruby White, and Dorothy Richard-Boothy White was a popular part in the evening's program. Miss Alda Robb was handicapped in her violin obligato by a broken string.

The chorus members from the tripping onto the stage to the tripping off varied from the classical to the light refrains of knitting times.

Altogether the program was received by much satisfaction and pleasure, the verdict of the listeners being "splendid."

THE DOUGLAS FIR

OW longido leaves remain on One year, you say. ress? That is true of most trees, hut not of the Douglas fir, which holds its leaves from five to eight years and sometimes as long as eleven years. Then, again, there is another very interesting thing about the Douglas fir. It attains a larger size than any other tree on the continent with the exception of the giant redwood. The tallest Douglas fir on record has a height of 380 feet to its credit, and trees fifteen feet in diameter have been found.

In the eastern part of the United States this beautiful and stately king of the Western forests is used for ornamental purposes. It grows rapidly, adapts itself easily to varying situations and is brave and persevering in the face of adverse circumstances. In the Northern prairie States it has been planted in many places for wind breaks and shelter belts. The tree got its name from David Douglas, a Scotch botanist, who took seed to England from this country in 1827 and planted it. Long before the war Germany had imported for experiment purposes practically all trees that grow in this country, among them Douglas firs, which were re-ported to have made rapid growth. A report several years ago said: "It is daily growing in favor with German foresters." It is a very valuable tree. The first lot of seed taken to France by the American Forestry Association after the war ended to help reforest the devastated regions was a bag of Douglas

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Mrs. Bugene T. Senseney is one of the many women who has won an interesting place for herself during these war years. And although her work is very progressive and a branch of government work it is essentially a woman's job. She has been director of educational and community service for the food administration and is now director of community service for the food administration and is now director of community kitchens. All of which means that she has the job of establishing and directing public kitchens which are built for the purpose of helping the women who must work during the daytine.

Some women find it hard to direct their own small kitchen and those will appreciate the scope of Mrs. Sonseney's work the directs not one but many, and not/small home kitchens, but large ones which supply whole communities. She has studied thoroughly the demands of each locality and when she establishes her kitchens she takes into consideration the nationality which prevails in that district and serves their particular. the nationalty which prevaled the nationalty district and serves their particular kinds of food. For instance, kitchens in Italian districts serve Italian dishes and those in Mufigarian or Polish localities serve Mungarian and Polish some time.

"By Hocior" cried Romaius, after the last stone had been placed upon the wall around Palatine Hill. The reason for these words is apparent.
"What shall I name this city I am going to build inside this wal?" he asked himself, for the first time. This was about 947 B. C.
But the question remained a question even while the city was being built.

A Dangerous Fear.

A Dangerous Peur.

Nobody likes or admires the sort of person who are always trying to do or say thing which will make them conspicuous. In fact, so strong is the antagonism aroused by this type of of person that I think it expresses itself with a greet many people in a rush to the other extreme. That is in their fear of being conspicuous, they hold back from doing simple and natural things. Here is an example of factory workers.

OUR WOMEN IN FRANCE
All American women working with the army of occupation in the bridge-head district. Coblenz, must be billeted under the American Y. W. C. A., according to word just reveived from France by the national war work council.

To meet this work the Y. W. C. A. has opened a hostess house in Coblenz with living accommodations for forty women. An average of 250 meals a day are served at this house and the demand for accommodations is growning rapidly.

Another hostess house is heing planned by the Y. W. C. A. at Le planned by worthy achievements! Then—" Custom ruleth!" cried Romulus.

"We must stick to custom!"

So saying, he seized the ripened fruit of a pepper bush, smelled it long and sniffingly, and sneezed himself to a glorious death.

"Custom hath prevafted!" proclaimed the scnators, throughout the city.

And they nick-named the city Rome, after Romulus.

would throttle all impulses.
When the Fear of Being Conspicuous Is the Fear of Idving
To be careful not to do things just for the sake of making oneself conspicuous is one thing. To be afraid to do thoroughly commedable things just because one does not want to appear conspicuous is quate another. This eternal fear of being conspicuous or ridiculous is part of that fear of living that keeps a life poor and arid. People Have Something More Important to Think Of.

Moreover, fear of being conspicuous is often a kind of vanity, an enlargement of the ego that makes one feel that the thoughts of the beholder will consentrate on oneself rather than on the act one is doing. People do not bother to think half so much about your coing as you imagine. You see they have something ten times as important to think about—their own affairs.

ptoms became the disturbance. "No anic trouble" is purely a doctor's myth.

The difficulty is that cardio-vascular degeneration is now the most common constitutional disease in this land, spenking of diseases and not of mere symptoms. It is the most rarely diagnosed of all the major or serious diseases, for the very reason that its onset is so insidicus that the victim usually fails to realize that there is anything in particular the matter with him. He just feels off color, falls off in efficiency, misses some of the pep and fire and go of, his heyday. At what age C. V. D. takes hold I do not know, but by the time the victim makes up his mind to consult a physician and have a thorough medical symmination made, whereby the navire of his health disturbance is recognified, he is anywhere from 40 to 50. to be weeping its departure, as Claudia made her way out of the gloomy station and looked anxiously beneath her umbrella for a sorth-bound car.

It would have been nicer for Aunt to have sent the car to meet her, she soliloquized, than to have taken her own suggestion that the trolley would save trouble. Ensconced in the back seat, Claudia tried to recall a long past visit at this same aunt's home had been a child then, and the collection was of exaggerated grandear. Probably the white marble, silken curtain memories, were not as fine as they had seemed. The house was one of solid block, Claudia remembered, their shining pillars and plate glass windows, all exactly alike. It had been a brief fairyland to her, the magic buttons which instantly flooded the wainscoted rooms with light, the luxurious depths of great chairs.

Claudia's life had been of simple sameness, how rarely simple she could not appreciate. There were the same sweet smelling roses peoping over the trellis at her own bedroom window each summer, the continued stillness and restfulness of the wide-spreading Ciaudia's parents had gene so long ago that grandmother in her enders seemed always to have been part of the picture. When grandnother was vaguely perplexed by the realization that their small income had vanished. Ciaudia had taken her place as teacher in the village school. Regularly she waved good-by grandmother each morning, and started upon her journey to the hilltop where the school building stood. Claudia had expected to spend the beginning of the coming year like all others, when Aunt Chalmers' letter of invitation opened a vista of promise.

"Don't count upon me." Claudia wrote in reply. "but if Lean find a substitute to teach for me. I'll just run into the city New Year's eve."

And she had found the substitute. "Glen court," called the conductor. Claudia alighted and passed down before the impressive block of white houses. The heavy rain had turned daylight to dusk.

Claudia went up the steps of what appeared to be No. 73, but no one was forthcoming to answer her ring. Moreover, drawn blinds and an air of in-ner silence betokened desertion. Puzzled, she passed farther down the line to what again appeared to be No. 78. This time her welcome was assured. A white-aproned maid opened the door immediately, requested Claudia to go at once to her room. "It's the side room," "You will find everything ceady there." She had barely removed her hat when a voice called queruously, and the voice becoming persistent, in its wordless sound, she went at once into the wide front chamber.

Can you get in some one to help you? A nurse, I know, cannot be expected to do everything.".

A sudden smile flashed across the "This is where a wife would be an advantage. Wives don't desert a fellow when he's, sick, do they? You—" he looked up at Claudia in quick slarm—"you won't leave me, will you nurse, until—?;

Prince of Graustark," Etc.

The wayfarer lost no time in climbing out of the car. As he leaped to the ground and raised his green hat he took a second look at the automobile-a look of mingled wonder and respect. It was an old-fashioned, high-powered car, capable, despite its antiquity, of astonishing; speed in any sort of go-

"You're getting wet," she cried out, a thrill in her voice. "Good nightand thank you!"

"Look out!" rasped the unpleasant driver, and in went the clutch. The man in the road jumped hastily to one side as the car shot backward with a jerk, curved sharply, stopped for the fraction of a second, and then bounded forward again, headed for the cross-

"Thanks!" shouted the late passen ger after the recoding tail light, and dashed up the steps to the porch that ran the full length of Hart's Tavern.

A huge old-fashioned lantern hung above the portal, creaking and straining in the wind, dragging at its stout supports and threatening every instant to break loose and go frolicking away with the storm.

He lifted the latch and, being a tall man, involuntarily stooped as he passed through the door, a needless precaution, for gaunt, gigantle mountaineers had entered there before him and without bending their arrogant

Fares

The Wisconsin Raifrond Commission, which regulates this business, and which authorized us to issue and sell these Notes as in the public interest, has decided we don't need higher car fares in Milwaukee. The Commission estimates that combined city and suburban car earnings during the first half of 1919 will yield a net return of 74% on the State-appraised value of the property, allowing for continued payment of the present wage scale.

We hope this will prove true. We shall do our best to make it come true. If it does, nobody will be better pleased than the owners and operators of the business.

If it does not prove true—if the six months carearnings are in fact too small to let us give the service the public wants and pay the wages the car men should get, without depriving our investors of their due, it is taken for granted the Railroad Commission will take such action as may be necessary to protect the public's service, the' car men's wages, the company's credit and the Stato's good faith.

This Property

The Railroad Commission in its decision given last Saturday certifies that the physical plant property of The Mitwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company on December 31, 1918, was worth $45,603,154, not including materials and supplies nor working capital, nor allowing anything for going business value.

With necessary stocks of materials and supplies and necessary working capital added—and the service could not be given without both—the company's actual investment engaged in the public service is over $49,000,000.

The Company's total stock, bond and note issues outstanding in the hands of the public, including this $8,600,000 issue, amount to $46,147,000.

The Railroad Commission says this Company came through the trying war period "in much better shape than many other public utility companies." It did—BECAUSE THIS COMPANY DOES NOT HAVE TO EARN A DOLLAR OF INTEREST OR DIVIDENDS ON WATER.

EXT Sunday will be one large day in the basehall annals of Janeswille.

The crack Blackhawk team is working hard, with a view of taking the tenlative Janeswille clue hare camp. Pate Fleianiles, who has recently undergone an operation, says he "never felt better" and other Itawks are eugled to get on the Janes' trail.

Tim McCue, manager of the Hawks, dropped into the Gazette office today and said that Jimmy Dorn, late of the lowa state league, and Howard Smith and Pred Claphwarthy, both of the Northern league, would be in the Hawk's lineup. Dorn will cavent at first base, Smith in center field and Claphwarthy at third.

Bick Wants to Repeat

Allen Bick, hero of the last Sabbath game, wants to start again Sunday against the Hawks and he is being given serious consideration, although Eldred, who failed to show last Sunday, has written, saying he will sure be an hand next Sunday, and then there are two other twirlers coming up from Chicago for a tryout.

Cutts and Daniels will perform behind the bat in next Sunday's game. Cutts has shown that he can hold em, and that's the kind of a man needed. Schauer will have his hands full captaining for awhile and will have the option of playing out in the garden.

Chamberlain, tall blacksmith, may start the game Sunday against the Hawks. And then again he mayn't. There are all kinds of possibilities and probabilities—and before the week is much older, some widely-known stars may have entered the Janes' camp. Practice Tonight

The Janes will practice tonight—the first time since Sunday's game. Practice will begin promptly at 6 o'clock this evening at the fair grounds. All players who can be there by 6:30 or 5:45, do so, for there will be enough men on hand to start something.

The Hawks have been granted the privilege of practicing on the fair grounds—when the Janes are not using them. Probably a scrub game may be staged. Fans ave invited. If the sun stays up all day, darkness will not set in dutil nearly eight o'clock. Come on out.

A. H. Lawson, special representative for S

A. H. Lawson, special representative for Spaulding and Company, sporting goods house, came to Janesville Tuesiny to see the writer about uniforms. He made a low-down price on twelve complete uniforms of $13 a suit, or $148. The suits must be ordered before the end of the week if the Janes are to have anything to play in when they tackle the strong Milwaukee All-Slars on the twentieth of the month.

Madison Man Hits 255 For First In Singles; Other Dope Is Upset

Madison bowlers along with Beloit and Stoughton changed the standings in the Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois tournament at the West Side alleys when they got into action

Saturday and Monday Although the Goldish of Janesville lead in the five-men event, the Pan Dandys of Madison gave them a close rub and wedged into second place with a count of 2813, eight pins behind the leaders. The fairles of Beloit took fourth place by scoring a total of 2630 Nclson's Colts of this city did not get to going Food and are in seventh place with 2568.

Olson and Schulki, Stoughton have Olson and Schulki, Stoughton have the high mark in the doubles with 1177. Heilman and Knoche, Madison come second with 1166 while Tony Schwoegler and Karthelser, who got into the money at Toledo rolled into third place with 1158. Minnick and Souleman, Janesville are fourth with 1217. Although the Goldfish of Janesville Knoche also shoved "Hank" Robbins out of the running for the Gazette cup for the highest individual game in any event. Knoche spilled the pins for 255 and unless someone else rolls some mighty fast balls with lots on 'em. "Skinny" will take the cup to the capital city.

In order to clear up a question which has arisen concerning the cups the manage.

In order to clear up a question which has arisen concerning the awarding of the cups, the management desires to announce that both cups cannot be won by an individual. For instance if the man who wins the fall events trophy should have the highest individual score, then the Gazette cup will go to the next highest man.

All-Stars Organize

Janesville All-Stars call first practice Wednesday night at 6:30 at Bailey's Diamonds

Diamonds.
The call to practice by Manager Arthur Bick, is hoped will have good-results. All the boys are glad to get in their baseball togs and "rip" up the dust for another season.
The Stars also send out a challenge to any team in the city for games. No age limit is asked for, and all Janesville teams are asked to get their games with either of the following: Manager, Art. Bick; Captain Ted Hager.

Hager.

Manager Bick will send in an order for new suits, this year, and this means every man to practice.
So every "All-Star out at 6:30."

RED DEVILS PLAY SUNDAY

The Red Devils will play their initial game of the season on Sunday, April 13. The Red Devils are in good condition and have shown up well in practice.

They practice every night at the court house park. Some of the residents of the Third ward are asked to come out and boost their team. The first game will be with the "Gas House Sluggers," a team composed of players from the gas house distict of the Second ward. In a few weeks the Red Devils will meet the well known All Stars, which is composed mainly of Fourth ward players. We have a few new players in our lineup and a very good game can be seen by coming to Riverview park Sunday. Some new stars which Manager Raubacher has been able to pick up are Tunstead, pitcher and first base; Dettmer, third base. Also a dark horse whose name will not be mentioned at this date but who will perform at the heaving position Sunday.

Rye on track and arrive 1.71; May 1.70½; July 1.72½.

Duluth Minn. April 8.—Trading was comparatively slow in all grains on this market, today. Plaxseed prices were advanced 2 cents at the start on the execution of some buying orders, but the gains were lost later on the execution of some buying orders, but the gains were lost later on the suppearance of realizing sales, while crushers refused to follow the market up. May closed unchanged; July and October unchanged.

Specialties registered further sensational gains at the opening of today's stock market while rails and other standard issues remained in the background. Burns Brothers made an initial advance of 5 points which soon was increased to 9. Barrett company rose four, and American International Corporation 2. Other particularly strong stocks included Mexican Petroleum, Texas company, Royal Dutch, Bethlehem Steel, Great Northern Ore, and U. S. Food Products (formerly distillers) at advances of 1 to 3 points. More moderate strength was shown by California Packing, Philadelphia company and General Cigars. U. S. Steel reflected a continuance of recent pressure.

The higher rate for call money resulted to a temporary reduction of activity and moderate profit taking. Reactions were fully offset here, by numerous additional gains in the groups comprising eautoments, cits, rubbers and tobaccos. Rails also showed marked improvement.

Buying of steels added to the scope and activity of the final hour when this oils, and a few specialities reacted 1 to 2 points. The close was strong.

ich House

ERE are two houses - identical in every respect, EXCEPT ONE.

They are built on lots that cost the same; they have the same number of rooms; are exactly the same in size; and have the same exposure to wind and weather.

You would insist that they are exactly the same, but they are as different as night and day.

One is uncomfortable practically the year 'round and a source of constant expense; while the other is always comfortable and maintained at a minimum of expense.

One is cold in winter - the other warm and cozy. One cannot be kept warm with 12 tons of coal - the other is comfortable, no matter what the temperature, and requires only 8 tons.

One is hot all summer — the other cool and pleasant. So you will agree that one is a "good buy" while the other is, in the parlance of the street, a "lemon."

Yet if you were given your choice between them you would be just as liable to pick the poor one as the good one, unless you knew the story of Flaxlinum.

OR the difference between these two houses is Flaxlinum. The house you would want is insulated with Flaxlinum—the other is not.

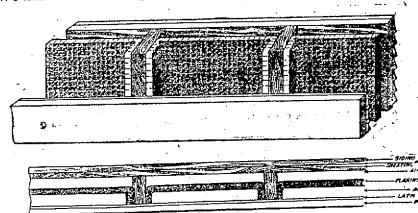

Insulating houses against heat and cold is simply applying the principle of insulation in refrigeration to the building of homes. Flaxlinum in the walls and roof of a house means that neither heat nor cold can pass through them.

For years the best refrigerators have been insulated with Flaxlinum. Refrigerator cars lined with it bring perishable fruit to you all the way from California in the coldest winter weather. So you see there is nothing new or experimental involved in the principle of insulating houses.

It remained for one of the great refrigeration authorities of the country to see that this principle could be applied to house construction. With the result that you may have a house that is comfortable the year 'round—no worrying about cold in winter or heat in summer.

You can see that the insulation which keeps out the cold in winter also keeps out the heat in summer. It prevents the cold or heat in the outside air from going through your walls.

You may argue that you can keep your house warm without Flaxlinum. But if your walls were insulated with it, you could maintain the same temperature with from 30% to 40% less fuel. A saving that in a few seasons would more than pay the cost of the insulation.

These illustrations show how Flaxlinum is flanged to fit between the studding in the sidewalls of a house. Note the double air space. No special frame required. No special construction.

Flaxlinum is Within the Reach of All Home-Builders

It is because of this added comfort and fuel economy that the use of Flaxlinum has increased tremendously each year. There are today houses equipped with Elaxlinum in practically every community in the Middle West and Northwest.

If you are thinking of building let us send you the names of home owners in your locality who have used it. Their experience will tell you that you cannot afford to build without Flaxlinum either from the standpoint of economy

A layer of Flaxlinum one-half inch thick, the thickness in which it is ordinarily used, is equivalent in heat and cold resistance to four solid inches of back plaster, or to thirty thicknesses of building paper.

It is better than back plaster because it will not crack when the building settles.

Flaxlinum Makes Double Air Space in the Walls

Flaxlinum is flanged to fit between the studding, as shown in the illustration below, forming double air spaces in the walls. This method of application is the only successful method of house insulation. There are no cracks to permit the passage of heat and cold. No special frames are required. No changes in the details of your house construction are necessary. You can apply Flaxlinum Flaxlinum is sold by leading building material dealers everywhere. It is specified by the best architects and endorsed by all reputable contractors.

If you do not know the name of your nearest Flaxlinum dealer, write us.

Free sample and literature on request. In writing please state what kind of building you are interested in.

even if the framework of your house is already up. It is easy to apply and handle.

Flaxlinum is used in the walls and roof of a house. Roof insulation is important for that's where the 'summer sun strikes hardest and where most of the heat escapes in winter.

Here are Some of the Things that Flaxlinum Does

Saves 30% to 40% of your fuel bill. Keeps your house warm in winter.

Keeps it cool in the summer.

Keeps out the noise the year around. Used as floor deadening in school houses and apartments, it shuts out noise from the floors above or below. Makes warm farm buildings, garages or any other buildings where warmth is required.

Increases farm production by making warmer farm buildings possible. Warm poultry houses mean more eggs. Warm hog houses mean earlier and healthier pigs. Warm dairy barns mean more milk.

Used for ice houses, and all kinds of vegetable and fruit storage houses.

It is rat and vermin proof.

Do not buy or build a house unless it is insulated throughout with Flaxlinum. You want your own home to be comfortable and economical. You cannot have it so without Flaxlinum. If you rent a house be sure that it has Flaxlinum in walls and roof. It will make a powerful difference in your coal bill-to say nothing of its being more liveable.

These illustrations show the application of Flaxlinum in roof insulation. The method is the same both in "story-and-a-half" houses and houses with attics, whether finished with lath and plaster or not.

It is Cheaper to Build a Warm House Than to Heat a Cold One" NORTHERN INSULATING COMPANY, St. Paul, Minn.
